ONE ASSAULT BY A CHILD MOLESTER CAN RESULT IN MULTIPLE VICTIMS.

When a child is sexually abused, the consequences can be devastating. The victim may experience emotional trauma, behavioral problems, and a loss of trust in others. The impact can last a lifetime. It's important to seek help immediately. For more information, call the Child Abuse Hotline at 717-397-1234. We're here because they're out there.

TELLTALE SIGNS THAT THERE'S A CHILD MOLESTER IN YOUR AREA.

Child molesters often look for signs of isolation and lack of supervision. They may target children in areas like playgrounds, schools, and parks. If you notice suspicious behavior, report it to the police immediately. For more information, call the Child Abuse Hotline at 717-397-1234. We're here because they're out there.

MEET 10-YEAR-OLD BECKY'S 12-YEAR-OLD INTERNET FRIEND.

Children are often vulnerable to online predators who use the internet to build trust and isolate them from their families. These predators may attempt to meet in person or engage in inappropriate activities. Parents should monitor their children's internet usage and teach them about online safety. For more information, call the Child Abuse Hotline at 717-397-1234. We're here because they're out there.
